

MEET THREE OF OUR 2022 INTERNS

Righteous Rides Interns Susie, Caleb, Asa, Ethan, and Bailey will be working at various capacities this summer.

INTERN IMPRESSIONS

The Righteous Rides Summer Intern Program runs for about three months and is certainly a boon to the ministry. This year we have five interns: four from LeTourneau University, and one from our backyard in Missouri. What a great investment in these students' lives as well as energizing the Righteous Rides staff! We asked three interns to tell us some of their thoughts on their internship.

"Whatever you do, work heartily, as for the Lord and not for men." Colossians 3:2

Caleb Bradford from Las Vegas, NV, is a junior studying mechanical engineering. This is Caleb's 2nd year as a RR Intern. As a missionary kid, he's enjoyed watching the newer interns learn more about the world of overseas missions as they meet missionaries passing through. He appreciates the helpful mentoring of the RR mechanics. "One of the coolest things Ethan and I have done in the shop was fix one of the folding Stow-N-Go seats in the back of a Dodge Caravan. The seats are extremely complicated with cables pulling other cables, which in turn pull levers that pull more cables. These seats are great examples of the kind of engineering problem solving we are learning at LeTourneau."

Susie Aulgur from Warrenton, MO, is our local intern. She recently graduated from high school and plans to attend St. Charles Community College in the fall. "I started volunteering at Righteous Rides close to a year ago and began work as an intern in May. Praying and interacting with the missionaries, volunteers, interns, and employees of RR has grown my faith and encouraged me. There is a genuine love for the Lord that is evident in all RR does, and I am so glad to be a part of it! I would love to be involved with missions throughout my life, and this internship has enlightened my perception of missionaries and the work they do. Besides that, I've learned how to make amazing coffee!"

Ethan Fawcett is an MK from Brazil, a sophomore working towards his BS in mechanical engineering. "Righteous Rides has equipped me with technical skills and a better understanding of the opportunities and needs in the field. I have even met missionaries who knew the high school I attended in São Paulo. My favorite thing I have learned is how to change brake pads and rotors. It's messy, but makes you look like you've worked hard! This internship has been the highlight of my year, and every day I look forward to walking through the doors and greeting everyone!"
